Florida law requires us to offer you the option to exclude coverage for “contents” which is defined in your Insurance Policy as Personal Property. In order for us to process your request to exclude coverage, Florida law requires you to provide a typed or written statement indicating you do not want “contents” coverage This form must then be signed and dated by you and every other named insured on the policy.

If you elect to reject this coverage, please write or type the following statement on the space provided below, then sign, date and return this form. All named insureds and additional named insureds must sign below.

"I do not want the insurance on my Dwelling to pay for the costs to repair or replace any contents that are damaged. I will pay those costs. My insurance will not."

I do not want the insurance on my dwelling to pay for the costs to repair or replace any contents that are damaged. I will pay those costs. My insurance will not

This Exclusion applies for the entire term of your policy and for each subsequent renewal unless you elect otherwise and pay the appropriate premium. You may remove this Personal Property Exclusion only to be effective upon the next renewal date of your policy. Contact your agent if you wish to remove this Exclusion.

We, the undersigned, understand no losses for our personal property will be paid for by the insurance contract referenced above. All named insureds and additional named insureds must sign below.
